Description

There aren't many properties like this in the area: a large 19th century house, traditional on the outside, modern inside, with spacious rooms and numerous communal spaces. The house, surrounded by hills and vineyards, stands on the edge of the picturesque wine-making village, with centuries-old rural traditions reflected both in its landscape and its mode of life.

The imposing maison-de-maitre dates back to 1874. It's been lovingly restored by the present owners, who've added a swimming pool and 2 terraces, modern kitchen and lighting - and transformed it into a stylish, modern house that it is today. It provides comfortable home-from-home accommodation, with a mixture of contemporary and antique furniture, and two beautiful terraces for sitting out and dining, both facing the vineyards.

In spring'22 the house has undergone yet another stage of renovations, upcycled Poggenpohl kitchen was installed, with modern AEG appliances. Terraces and a bathroom were renovated to a high standard. In spring of 2024, the swimming pool terrace has been paved in stone and one more terrace added on the sunny side, as well as a pergola with sofas.

The house is spacious, with light-filled rooms and modern comforts. It is for 8 people only.

It stands on the edge of a picturesque wine-making village of Berlou, providing both privacy and access to the village facilities, which include a gastronomic restaurant, a brasserie, tennis courts and a wine shop (the local Cave Cooperative produces some of the best wines in the area). Next to the house, there is a large garden with trees, a lawn, and a swimming pool with a pergola, two terraces and chaise-longues for sunbathing. It is a place of relaxation and tranquility, there's reasonably fast wifi but no TV in the house.

The recently renovated kitchen is large and open plan, situated on the raised ground floor, with a table for 8, and a couple of large sofas for an after-dinner digestif. Or enjoy a glass of eau de vie in the adjacent salon-library, with 2 further sofas, 2 armchairs and a coffee-table. Large doors open onto a spacious terrace. It faces the vineyards and has outside table and chairs.

Next to the salon, on the same floor, there's a double bedroom with an adjacent bathroom (toilet and shower).

A curved staircase with cast-iron railings leads to the 1st floor, with 3 further bedroom (1 en-suite) and 2 bathrooms. One of the bathrooms was renovated in June'22.

There is a large terraced garden with rows of lavender and fruit trees, and a large swimming pool (10m x 5m) with a shady pergola, terraces with sun-beds, as well as a table and chairs.

The house stands on the edge of the village, surrounded by vineyards and hills, you can step out and go cycling or hiking in the hills, soaking in breathtaking views all around.

The village of Berlou is conveniently located for walks, cycling, local markets and restaurants. It is also renowned for its excellent wines, being one of the best producers of St Chinian Appellation Contrôlée. Staying in Berlou, you can be guaranteed an authentic Languedoc holiday!

Location

Berlou, Hérault, Languedoc-Roussillon.

Located in the heart of AOC St. Chinian - one of the most famous wine appellations of the Languedoc - Berlou is known for its fine wines.

Berlou is quite a small village but there is a wine cooperative where you can buy your wines direct, a gastronomique restaurant - Le Faitout, and a bar Chez Lilly's for drinks and simple dinner.

The ancient town of Béziers is about 40 minutes away and Narbonne at about 50 minutes.

Berlou is on the edge of the Haut Languedoc National Park so walking and views are everywhere. A visit to the Gorges d'Héric is recommended.

The best wine producers in the area:

Berlou Cave Cooperative is one of the best producers of the St.Chinian Appellation Controle.

There are also several excellent independent wine producers in the village, each making wines with its own distinctive character. The most notable amongst them are:

- Domaine De Cambis - a new Domaine, started about 4 years ago, making a selection of crisp sharp organic wines.
- Terre Esemis is also new. Vin Naturel - natural wines, without chemicals or sulphates, a new trend in wine-making.
- Domaine Rimbart - excellent deep, velvety wines from an experienced local producer
- Grange de Leon - another excellent, well-regarded local producer

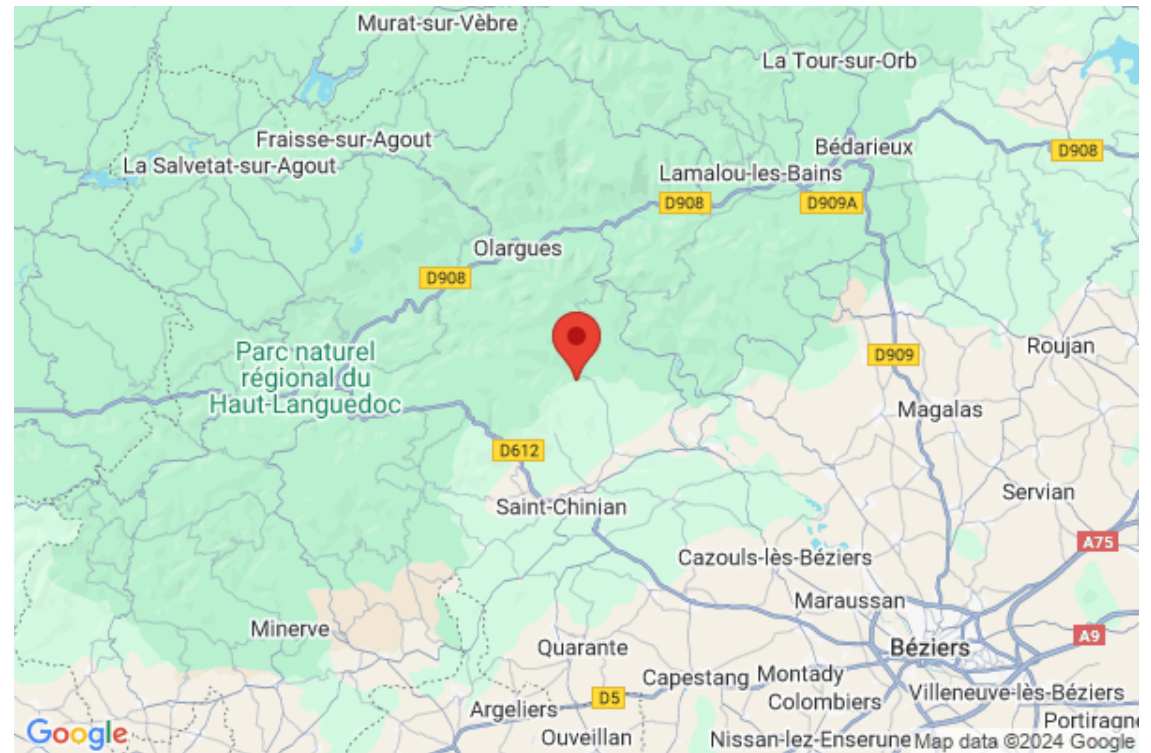

Mediterranean beaches: about 45 minutes.
